Working with
BRIGHT PRODUCTIONS

Bright Productions is a full-service marketing agency specializing in social media marketing, web design, online advertising, and content creation. We are known for our unwavering ethics and for always doing what is in the best interest of our clients. Our loyal client base best illustrates our success. In particular, we have a wealth of experience working with specialty food companies.

We understand the unique challenges and opportunities presented by working with a potential niche audience and know how to make connections with your customers that will stick. Our talented team has the skill sets to create and service the most complex projects from scratch to a polished finish. We are large enough to handle complex projects, yet small enough to provide personal, attentive service.

stayinghomesawyer What's your favorite way to eat pickles? Straight out of the jar? In a Bloody Mary? Or maybe just in the special sauce on your favorite hamburger?

We are straight out of the jar people. And Sawyer seems to be right on board with that (gotta teach her young). We recently tried @bubbiespickles and the spicy dill is right up my alley! They also have sauerkraut that brought me back to my Wisconsin roots. Can you even eat a brat without sauerkraut on it? They were kind enough to send me a cookbook (check out my stories) and literally everything looks good to me. I think we'll be eating a lot of pickly
